FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

LS 6881

BILL NUMBER: HB 1349

NOTE PREPARED: Jan 1, 2003

BILL AMENDED:

SUBJECT: Prepaid College Tuition.

FIRST AUTHOR: Rep. Goodin

FIRST SPONSOR:

BILL STATUS: As Introduced

FUNDS AFFECTED: X GENERAL
DEDICATED FEDERAL

IMPACT: State

Summary of Legislation: This bill establishes the Indiana Prepaid College Program. It requires the Indiana Education Savings Authority to administer the program. The bill provides for the advance payment of tuition (including registration fees) or room and board, or both, at a community college or university.

Effective Date: July 1, 2003.

Explanation of State Expenditures: The potential state fiscal impact depends on how accurately the premiums are set for the prepaid program. Once the premium is set, the state guarantees that the funds will be sufficient to pay the student's tuition and/or room and board costs when the student attends college. If earnings are less than projected or costs grow greater than projected, then the state would be liable for the additional costs. The possible impact is unknown. The Education Savings Authority is authorized to collect reasonable administrative fees and charges on the transactions, so there should not be an increase in state costs for administering the program.

Background: Section 529 plans, also known as Qualified Tuition Programs (QTP), are a method of saving for a child's college education. There are two types of Section 529 plans: prepaid tuition plans and college savings plans. Both are named after Section 529 of the Internal Revenue Code, which specifies the requirements for the plans to be free from federal income taxes. Prepaid tuition plans let an individual lock in future tuition rates at in-state public colleges at current prices and are usually guaranteed by the state. College savings plans are more flexible, but do not offer a guarantee.

Every state (including Washington, DC) now offers a state Section 529 plan, with 32 states offering just college savings plans, 2 states offering just prepaid tuition plans, and 17 states offering both.

Participation in Section 529 plans is growing rapidly. In 2000 a total of $2.6 billion were invested in the plans. This grew to $14 billion in 2001 and is expected to top $25 billion and 3.8 million accounts by the end of 2002.

As of December 27, 2002, Indiana had 10,274 citizens participating in the Section 529 Saving Plan and assets of $41,734,537.
